RIO DE JANEIRO, JULY 1st, 1889.

THE new cabinet, it would seem, has resolved to carry out the negotiation of a commercial treaty with the United States, which has been under consideration during the last eighteen months. To this end Senator Lafayette Rodrigues Pereira has been nominated envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary on a special mission to that country and will proceed there at once, perhaps by the first steamer. The new minister is known as one of the ablest jurists in Brazil, and has already filled one important special mission abroad, that of arbitrator in the settlement of foreign claims against Chili. He has twice held cabinet positions, that of minister of justice, and that of prime minister with the portfolio of finance. He is a member of the council of state, a senator from the province of Minas Geraes, and is a man of more than ordinary influence in administrative circles. Up to the time of his accepting a cabinet position, less than ten years ago, he was a prominent republican; since then he has been connected with the liberal party and has been an ardent defender of the monarchy. It is certainly an auspicious sign that Brazil should send so prominent a man to negotiate this proposed treaty and to represent the empire at the approaching American congress in Washington. Senator Lafayette will be accompanied by Dr. Salvador de Mendonça, the well-known Brazilian consul-general in New York, and perhaps by another representative. He will of course be assisted by Minister Valente, recently appointed minister to the United States. It is highly satisfactory that Brazil is to be so ably represented at Washington this year, for the approaching congresses and the tendency to closer relationship between the various American states, renders the time one of peculiar importance. In addition to this, the possibility of the reference of a long-standing dispute to the President of the United States for arbitration, render it necessary that Brazil should be represented there by a jurist of more than ordinary ability.

It is now known that the new cabinet has definitely resolved to carry an extensive scheme into effect for loaning money to planters on easy terms and for long periods. A promise to this effect was included in the ministerial programme, its terms have since been made the subject of conferences between the minister of finance and the prominent native bankers of the city, and now an arrangement has been made with two credit foncier banks for loans of 15,000,000 to the planters of Rio and S. Paulo. It is probable that much of this, however, is only a clever piece of political diplomacy, a shrewdly devised plan to quiet the dissatisfied, debt-ridden planters who have resolved to overthrow the monarchy because of the unconditional liberation of their slaves. But the prime minister ought to know—as every thoughtful observer must know—that the scheme will not work. Every effort to pacify this reactionary class, whose only interest is that of its own domination and aggrandizement, will merely serve to stimulate its self-importance and magnify its demands. It is neither right nor dignified to submit any longer to the impositions of one interest and one class of men. The government is most emphatically not maintained by the planters, and there is precious little chance that it ever will be as long as present ideas prevail. The planter has always been a public parasite. Slavery was introduced and maintained for his uses, special laws have been made for his protection, the public offices have been conferred upon him and his friends, immigration has been encouraged and aided by the public treasury for his special benefit, banks have been created solely for his assistance, and even the national treasury has been opened for his relief! And how has he profited by it? He has turned over his estates to overseer and slaves and has given up his time to politics and idleness. He has lived most of his time in the cities. He is known as an inveterate gambler, and his vices have therefore swallowed up all his gains. He has always been in debt, more so, perhaps, in the days of slavery than at present because the slaves worked to repay his creditors. And now that this one source of income and credit has been taken away from him, and his creditors refuse to advance further sums to lengthen his days of idleness and vice, he turns agitator and threatens to overthrow the government if the taxpayer is not compelled to pay his debts and advance money for his fancied needs! Why not let him carry his threats into execution? There could be no better solution to the whole controversy than an appeal to violent measures, for the sword easily and conclusively settles a dispute where words and palliatives never reach a result. Advancing money to a bankrupt, thriftless class to-day, means a repetition of the same thing to-morrow—and so on indefinitely. If the planter, with all his land, his power, his education and his prestige, can not hold his own now, then he never will. Assistance in the way of easy loans is simply throwing money into the sea. There is no reason why he should not work and economize like the merchant and the artisan, and there is no reason why misguided efforts, or lack of energy and enterprise, on his part, should not lead to failure just as in the case of other men. The planter has so long ruled this country, and has been so accustomed to having his own way, that he apparently considers his caste and his interests as the only objects of national life and solicitude. For them the laws are made, or ignored, taxes are levied, and money is borrowed. For them the coast of Africa and the plains of Italy are swept by hunters of human blood and muscle, and for them the humble laborer toils for a pittance to toss into the tax-gatherer's pocket for the purpose of protecting the shameful domination. There is not one single reason, economically or morally, why public aid should be granted to this class, and to now grant it, under threats of revolution, and in view of the actual condition of the great mass of people and of the financial state of the country, is pitifully and to the last degree.

THE VOTING POPULATION.

The Journal do Recife has taken the trouble to compile a table showing the voting population in all the provinces, which will be of interest to our readers just at this time. The additions are not strictly correct, and it is probable that the voting population is now somewhat larger than when this list was organized, but it may be assumed that the grand total will not exceed 200,000 in a population estimated at 12,000,000. To this we append the representation of the provinces in the General Assembly:

RIO CRICKET CLUB.

The match between the first eleven and the next fifteen came off on St. John the Baptist's day, the 24th ult., and the game was given to the fifteen—decided by the first innings. As, unfortunately, is generally the case the players were very late on the ground, and the game only commenced about 1 p.m. We have no desire to criticize, but surely the members of the R. C. C. have not acquired the espera um pouco habit, and it is a pity that two full innings could not have been played.

PROVINCIAL NOTES.

—Frost again occurred in S. Paulo on the morning of the 26th ult.

—The epidemic of fever in Campinas is now considered to be at an end and the refugees are returning to the city.

—The Coude d'Kia arrived at Pará on the 27th and left for Manaus on the 29th. He has been received everywhere with manifestations of good will and high appreciation.

—A poor negro hegger was found frozen to death in an old shed at Tauboy, S. Paulo, on the morning of the 14th ult. Freezing to death, however, is not common in these latitudes.

—The new chief of police in Minas has ordered the closing of various gambling houses in Ouro Preto, and a registry of all persons who have no visible means of support. Not a bad beginning, certainly!

—The new immigrants kupolaria at Victoria, Espirito Santo, is approaching completion. It is located at Pedra d'Agua, near the city, and is to cost 80,000$, for which the general government contributes 50,000$.

—According to the Diário de Notícias of the 25th there is a priest in the municipality of Maranhão, Minas Geraes, who declined to baptize some Indian babies, because the parents had not the money to pay his fees. The poor little Indians are thus condemned to hell-fire, should they die before their parents can arrange the necessary funds to pay for their accommodation elsewhere.

—The acting president of the province of Espirito Santo has been making things lively for the gas company at Victoria. He has dismissed the fiscal, appointed a commission of engineers to examine the gasometer, etc., and the public is with him.

—A correspondent of the Journal writing from Victoria, Espirito Santo, under date of the 18th ult., says the liberals will find very little money in the provincial treasury, due perhaps to testamentary dispositions. The outgoing conservatives, we presume, pocketed all they could.

—The Diário Mercantil of S. Paulo on the 22nd ult., addressed some very severe, but entirely merited, remarks to the jury that acquitted the murderers of Mathias Costa at Santos. The jury in Brazil has become a ridiculous farce, and the sooner it is suppressed, or cleansed, the better. Either the average Brazilian jurymen has become idiotic, or there is such an era of innocence in the country that the institution of the jury is rendered entirely unnecessary.

—There was a conflict at S. José do Rio Pardo, S. Paulo, on the 25th, on the occasion of an Italian charitable festival. The police delegado and a party of capangas attacked a party of republicans with the intention of compelling the editor of a republican paper to cheer for the monarchy, but were driven off. The government should restrain these zealous officials for a while, else they will completely counteract the influence of all the money it is proposed to spend as "aid to agriculture."

—Although additions and improvements are being constantly made to the plant of the Vypiranga iron works, the financial returns of that long-cherished government establishment do not show any better results. In 1888 the expenditures amounted to 209,624$500, of which 154,043$500 belonged to the regular working expenses of the foundry, while the products sold realized only 60,595$790, in which were included sales to the state to the amount of 26,941$960. It would be interesting to know just how much this profitless toy has cost the country since the beginning.

RAILROAD NOTES.

—The March receipts of the S. Carlos do Pindal line were 93 584$700 and the expenditures 33,400$090, leaving a surplus of 60,184$610.

—On the 26th ult. a very serious accident might have occurred near Sant'Anna on the Canagallo line. A special train met a mixed train, but the driver of the special had time to reverse the lever, thus avoiding a smash up. He jumped from the engine, however, and his train continued to back at a great speed until a passenger climbed into the cab and brought it to a standstill. This driver deserves a leather medal.

RIVER PLATE ITEMS.

—The Liebig company at Frey Bents killed 151,093 head of cattle during the season just closed.

—An Argentine exchange says it is estimated that the Cordoba bank counterfeits will reach about half a million dollars.

—Recent telegrams from Buenos Aires state positively that Phylloxera had appeared in the vineyards of the province of San Juan.

—A project is now before the Uruguayan legislature for the construction of a railway to connect Montevideo with the town of Bagé, Rio Grande do Sul.

—The establishment of a swimming school for subalterns of the Uruguayan army was considered worthy of a telegram, and it was published in the Journal on the 28th.

—The Montevideo Independiente, speaking of the action of the Buenos Aires doctors in regard to a suspected case of beriberi, very wittily says: "Next we shall hear of their putting a ship in quarantine because the captain has a wooden leg!" And that is just what they are quite capable of doing, colleague!

—A telegram dated on the 27th ult., from Buenos Aires states that a proposition had been submitted by Visconde de Figueiredo and Sr. Lhandi Campbell to the Argentine chambers for a 5 per cent. guarantee upon the capital employed in a railway to extend from Buenos Aires, through the republic, and to the Brazilian provinces of S. Paulo, Minas Geraes, Bahia and Pernambuco. This is merely the scheme we have already noticed for a trans-continental railway.

—According to our Montevideo exchanges the discovery of counterfeit Brazilian 20$ notes in that city was made by a customs official on June 14th in examining the baggage of a passenger landed from the steamer Prima Maria Christina. The portmanteau in which they were discovered had a false bottom, and the total amount discovered was about 200,000$. The counterfeit, who was placed under arrest, is a Spaniard of 35 to 40 years of age and came from Barcelona. It was designed to introduce the notes into Brazil through Rio Grande.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has prepared our breakfast food with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many a sleepless night by its judicious use of such articles as are found in nature. It is by the judicious use of such articles of food that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle poisons are finding their way into our system whenever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shot by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure food, and a properly nourished frame."—Quintessence of Health.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus: JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London, England.

THE RIO NEWS

Published every Monday.

The Rio News was established under its present title and management on the 1st of April, 1879, succeeding the British and American Herald. Although the style, title and frequency of issue were changed at the time of transfer, the designations of number and volume were continued unbroken. At the beginning of 1881 the style of the publication was still further changed by its increase from four to eight pages, and a diminution in the size of the page. This change not only largely increased the size of the publication, but it added greatly to its convenience for office and reference use.

With the beginning of its 16th volume (January, 1889) the editors feel themselves warranted in calling attention to the uniform and general satisfaction with which their policy and management have thus far been received, and in advising their patrons that no deviation whatever from readers fully and accurately informed on all commercial questions, and upon all matters of Brazilian news or policy which may have more or less bearing upon any and all enterprises and investments. In its discussions it will treat every question frankly, and for its discussions it will treat its news column as it will seek to keep its readers fully and accurately informed on all matters and occurrences throughout Brazil.

In addition to a large circulation in the United States and Europe, where its commercial reports are much appreciated, the Rio News has a wide circulation throughout Brazil, thus making the paper a valuable advertising medium. The rates charged are 15$ per inch per quarter, with a reduction of 20$ for additional space and time.
